

General Aviation Aircraft

All pilots, regardless of rank or hours, are approved to fly GA aircraft and log their flights. The simulation is that you own or rent the GA aircraft for personal use. There is no restriction on what or where you fly a GA. There are no routes designated for GA. Use your Pilot Identification number as the flight number when logging your GA flight. Use any plane in your sim, any livery. GA aircraft recognized have ten seats or less. This is a perk that Pacific Airways offers that you will not find with most VAs.
